

Southern grey shrike as a predator of reptiles on the island of Gran Canaria and a comparison between island and mainland predation rates

JOSÉ M. CABALLERO, ALFONSO BALMORI-DE LA PUENTE, TERESA CALDERÓN, IVÁN DE LA CALLE & ALFONSO BALMORI

Table S1. Extended bibliographic review to show all studies of the reptile prey (all lizards) of the southern grey shrike from mainland or island habitats, showing the form in which the prey was sampled (pellet, impalement, or nest), and studies with or without information on the reptiles as a percentage of the total number of prey (% P) and/or reptile biomass as a percentage of all prey biomass (% B).
