

THE HERPETOLOGICAL JOURNAL

Volume 11, Number 2 2001

CONTENTS

Full Papers

- |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                  |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Amphibian breeding site characteristics in the Western Carpathians, Poland                                                                                                                      | W. BABIK &J. RAFINSKI                                        | 41 |
| Two new chameleons of the genus Calumma from north-east Madagascar, with observations on hemipenial morphology in the Calumma furcifer group (Reptilia, Squamata, Chamaeleonidae) | F. ANDREONE,F. MATTIOLI,R. JESU &J. E. RANDRIANIRINA | 53 |
| Effects of age and group size on habitat selection and activity level in Rana pipiens tadpoles                                                                                           | D. R. GOLDEN,G. R. SMITH &J. E. RETTIG                   | 69 |

Short Notes

- |                                                                                                                                                          |                                              |    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|----|
| Evidence for diurnality from an eye lens crystallin in Cnemaspis (Reptilia: Gekkonidae)                                                           | B. RÖLL                                      | 75 |
| Observations on the natural history and morphometrics of the Montpellier snake, Malpolon monspessulanus , on Lampedusa Island (Mediterranean Sea) | C. CORTI,L. LUISELLI &M. A. L. ZUFFI | 79 |

- |                     |  |    |
|---------------------|--|----|
| Book Reviews |  | 83 |
|---------------------|--|----|